Edito's Note

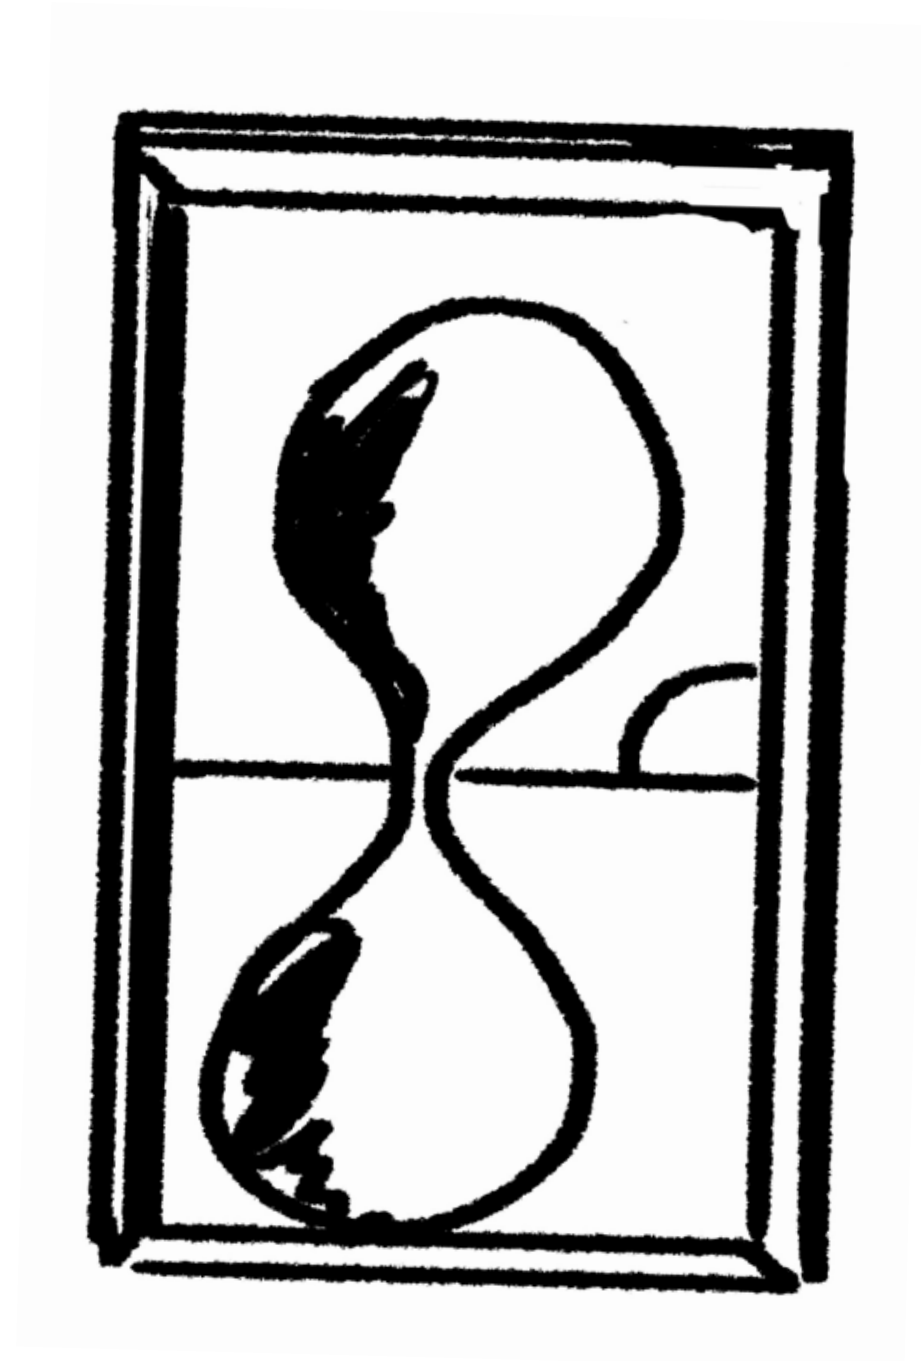

The more I travel, the more I interact with art, the more my awareness for details increases. I can notice more and more; how small things make a big difference! “The truth of the story lies in details”, wrote Paul Auster, which in our case could be adapted as “The beauty of the story lies in details”. Sometimes it's a smell, sometimes a phrase, a texture, or even a pattern They all show how things may vary from place to place, as much as thoughts may vary mind from mind.

Our art store spring collection, therefore, includes a selection of products around our recent trips to Asia, as well as with the artists we have been close to. Behind the selection of each of them, you will therefore meet with the voices of Sybaris artists and moments of our journeys in objects for daily life, that in small things and details simply add beauty.

Attentively,
Regina de Con Cossío
Editor
